LOT 29 - Iraq 25,000 Dinar Note 2003 Central Bank Attractive

Description

The Iraq 25,000 Dinar note issued by the Central Bank in 2003 marks a significant period in the country's numismatic history, as it was produced following the toppling of Saddam Hussein's regime. With an iconic design that features a depiction of the astrolabe, a pivotal tool in astronomy, on the reverse, the note symbolizes Iraq's rich scientific heritage. This issue is part of the larger series known as the Swiss dinars due to their high-quality print, making it a notable piece for collectors focused on Middle Eastern currencies. The note's vibrant coloring and intricate detailing have been preserved in exceptional condition, enhancing its visual appeal and collectability. Serious collectors will appreciate the historical value this note represents in rebuilding Iraq's national identity and the unique appeal it holds in completing a series centered on post-2003 Iraqi issues.
