LOT 19 - 1854 Braided Hair Large Cent Choice Laurel Wreath Design

Description

The 1854 Braided Hair Large Cent, a choice example of the esteemed Laurel Wreath design by Christian Gobrecht, boasts an undisclosed mintage that places it among more commonly encountered dates within this series. Struck at the primary Philadelphia Mint, this issue is notable for its robust strike, typically displaying strong detailing on the high points of Lady Liberty's intricate hair and wreath. Collectors value the 1854 issue not only for completing date sets but also for its representation of the mid-19th-century economic stability, as these cents were produced consistently to meet burgeoning small change needs. This particular specimen exhibits exceptional surface preservation, with original brown and red hues enhancing its eye appeal, while the well-preserved die lines underscore its technical quality and desirability among dedicated numismatists. As large cents enjoy enduring popularity for their substantial historical narrative and aesthetic allure, this example is a compelling acquisition for those seeking to enrich their collection with quality mid-series issues.
